

Everything takes time

María lives near Santa Lucía farm. She goes to a school near her house. She likes to do things very quickly, and this, is sometimes a problem for her, her friends and her family. There are apple trees on the farm, so María often takes apples for her snack. Today she took an apple from the tree, but it was hard, sour and green.

María is in third grade. At school she sometimes interrupts her friends when they are giving an answer to the teacher and she finds it difficult to wait for her turn.

Sarah is María's best friend. Sarah tries to help María and teach her that waiting is important.

José is María's brother. He is in fifth grade and goes to the same school. He is different from his sister. In class when a friend doesn't understand something, José waits quietly and doesn't get angry. He understands that we all need different amounts of time to do different things.
